Profile

A breezy experience awaits at Yves Durif, where the French stylist quickly (and gorgeously) cuts hair with his pleasant, laid-back team. Durif layers and shapes hair around his client's faces and the staff chats easily. When style is the subject, they expertly assess and explain what they see in a client's coiffed future, taking into consideration facial structure and lifestyle. The service is surprisingly personal, which explains why many clients have been with Durif since the salon's 1997 opening. — Faran Alexis Krentcil
